After two weeks of work from hundreds of people all over the world the final version of InDesign CC 2018, v16.0 is finally available to our entire community. This release includes new features like multi-page adaptive layouts, more new PDF objects and new scripting objects, plus many other smaller improvements and fixes. With the upcoming Creative Cloud launch, this is a really important release for us. We are thrilled to have received so many great suggestions and feedback on InDesign CC 2018, and we are committed to improving InDesign's features and usability even more. This is truly one of the largest and most ambitious projects we have undertaken. The InDesign team is proud to introduce InDesign CC 2018! Learn more at Known issues: * There might be a problem with opening files located in a network drive. We are working on a fix. * If you have saved a template file in a network drive and then you open a new file or you open a file that is based on the template file, then a dialog might appear that asks the user to choose where to save the file. * When you open a jpeg file in InDesign CC 2017, you might see an error message stating that the jpeg file is not a valid image file. This is a known issue and will be fixed in a future release. InDesign CC is available for purchase on -- Thanks to everyone who helped improve InDesign. If you encounter any issues with Adobe InDesign CC 2018, please report them through the Prerelease support options available in the Help and Support menu. -----
